THIS MONTH'S TOPIC: UNDERSTANDING THE COST OF CONVENIENCE

Our society moves at a fast pace. Most any purchase is available at the push of a button, making delayed gratification a concept of the past. The question is ... what does all this convenience really cost?

SPENDING LEAKS

Benjamin Franklin is noted for saying, "Beware of little expenses. A small leak will sink a great ship." Spending leaks are small, seemingly innocent purchases that add up over time. These spending habits have the potential to drain our budgets if gone unchecked. Spending leaks can be part of our normal routines, which can make them difficult to spot.

Examples of common spending leaks include specialty coffees, takeout food, delivery services, impulse and "one-click" buys, digital downloads, streaming services, alcohol, or even hobbies. When we add up these costs, it can be surprising to see how much money we could save by making different choices.

CONVENIENCE IS COSTLY

Examples of spending leaks common to many individuals and families are food and grocery deliveries. Services like DoorDash, Uber Eats, GrubHub, Instacart, or even local pizza and grocery delivery, have become household staples. Using these "convenient" services significantly increases the final bill when you consider additional charges such as service and delivery fees and driver tips.

OTHER COMMON LEAKS

Other common convenient spending leaks include unused auto-drafted memberships and subscriptions. For example, streaming or cable services. You could save $150 to $200 a year by cutting one rarely used streaming service with an average cost of $15 a month. Or maybe you joined a gym but never go. If monthly membership is $55, that's $660 automatically deducted from your account each year.

Use the chart above to take a closer look at a few estimated costs of convenience and what you could save annually by choosing pickup versus delivery.

PLUG SPENDING LEAKS

Track purchases. Keep a spending diary to become more mindful of your spending habits. Track every purchase regardless of size, including recurring bills, and note your method of payment (e.g., cash, debit card, credit card, app, online payment check). Look for possible “leaks” among frequent purchases.

Examine receipts. If deliveries are common in your household, use app or email receipts to review past orders. Then determine how much extra you paid in recent service and delivery charges. What could you have done with this money instead?

Analyze auto-drafts. List monthly and annual auto-drafts, then assess how frequently you use each service. Be wary of sneaky online subscriptions that “hide” in other accounts, such as through PayPal, Apple settings, or Amazon Prime. Or they may include “free” trials you forgot to cancel. Review monthly bank, credit card, and/or money transfer app statements to help you identify any unused auto-draft service, subscription, or membership that you should cancel.

Say “No” to Easy Pay. Disable one-click purchase options that save your financial information. Instead, enter your information at checkout. The less convenient it is for you to make an online purchase, the less likely you are to make impulse buys.
